

Cell phone usage should not be allowed during flight. It would be extremely disruptive to other passengers. Allowing cell phone usage would just be one more irritant. As a flight attendant, we often have enough problems getting passengers to listen to what we are saying and getting them to comply with seatbelt sign etc. Passengers get upset now over others dvd players being too loud, children crying, no leg room, no real food, odors from passengers, inconsiderate passengers that put their seat back into the other persons lap, being hot, being cold, flights being late or delayed. Allowing cell phone usage would just be one more irritant. In an emergency, passengers will use their phone if service is available anyway.
